

Chance to see young masters

Mahidol University's College of Music and the Stock Exchange of Thailand are inviting everyone who is interested to witness the final round of the 14th Settrade Youth Music Competition 2010, which will take place at Mahidol's Music Auditorium on Jan 23 from 8am-5:30pm.

The competition has four levels from primary students up to undergraduates who are not over 25 years old. They will be playing any kind of music and any kind of acoustic music instruments. Up for grab are prizes worth 600,000 baht and a one-year scholarship.

Several successful young musicians have won awards at this competition and made it big in the music business. Among them are Ekachai "Bird" Jearakul, a famous Thai classical guitarist who has won many awards from around the world; and Tapalin "Soi" Charoensook, who received an award at the 3rd Karlis Davidov International Competition for Cellists in Latvia.

Youth Music Competition

Admission is free of charge. For more information, call 02-800-2525 ext 107/8 or visit www.settrade.com/event.